DEDICATION

With a talent for greatly inspiring all who knew him, Major Beverly C. Daly has given the University of Wyoming 35 years of meritorious service. He is remembered in particular by this campus for the time he spent as Dean of Men, and his extensive work in the military department.

It was in 1932 that Major Daly became Dean of Men after 21 years as professor of military science and tactics and commandant of cadets at our school. During his 14 years as dean he has seen boys, nearly all of whom he knows by their first names, come as freshmen, orient themselves to college, graduate, marry and go to the far corners of the world.

When Major Daly retired from active duty with the 30th Infantry the War Department detailed him to our University, where in 1918 he established a military training program, later known as the Student Army Training Corps. At the close of World War I the Reserve Officers Training Corps was substituted for this program which was one of the first colleges to be granted the ROTC unit, and was accorded the "excellent rating" by the War Department. Through his influence a chapter of Scabbard and Blade, national military honorary, was secured for this campus.

Retiring in 1946 and still living in Laramie, Major Daly now centers his attention upon his family and hobbies after his many years of faithful service to the University.

Major Beverly C. Daly

THE UNIVERSITY OF WYOMING

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

OLD MAIN

LARAMIE, WYOMING

TO THE STUDENTS OF THE UNIVERSITY OF WYOMING:

Each of you, whether you have just begun your university career or whether you are completing your period of formal training, is asking the question, "What of the future?" It is a question to which there is no satisfactory answer. We do know, however, that the future of the world, the future of our nation, and our future as individuals depends in large measure upon how we as Americans play our part in bringing about peace and world understanding.

The only insurance for the future is to live each day earnestly, intently, effectively. At the University of Wyoming we shall strive to give you the kind of education that will help you to face the future with hope and courage and that will enable you to make your best contribution to your state, your nation, and the world.

Sincerely yours,

G. D. HUMPHREY

EDNA TICHAC
Union Director

One person who has passed her exam in unionology with flying colors is Edna Tichac. Mrs. Tichac, who spent her union going days at the University in 1933, has really gone into this business on a large scale. For her, our old lament of missing all the troops after we're out of school is unknown.

In 1945, she assumed the title and responsibilities of director of Wyoming's Student Union and has kept up operations successfully ever since.

Edna is the one we see to arrange for that big dance in the ballroom, or the feast to be held in the banquet hall. Also, if you feel you might want to spend more than your socializing time in the Union, see Edna about a job and help run this big club we all belong to.

The most used building on campus owes its smooth management to this director and her staff.

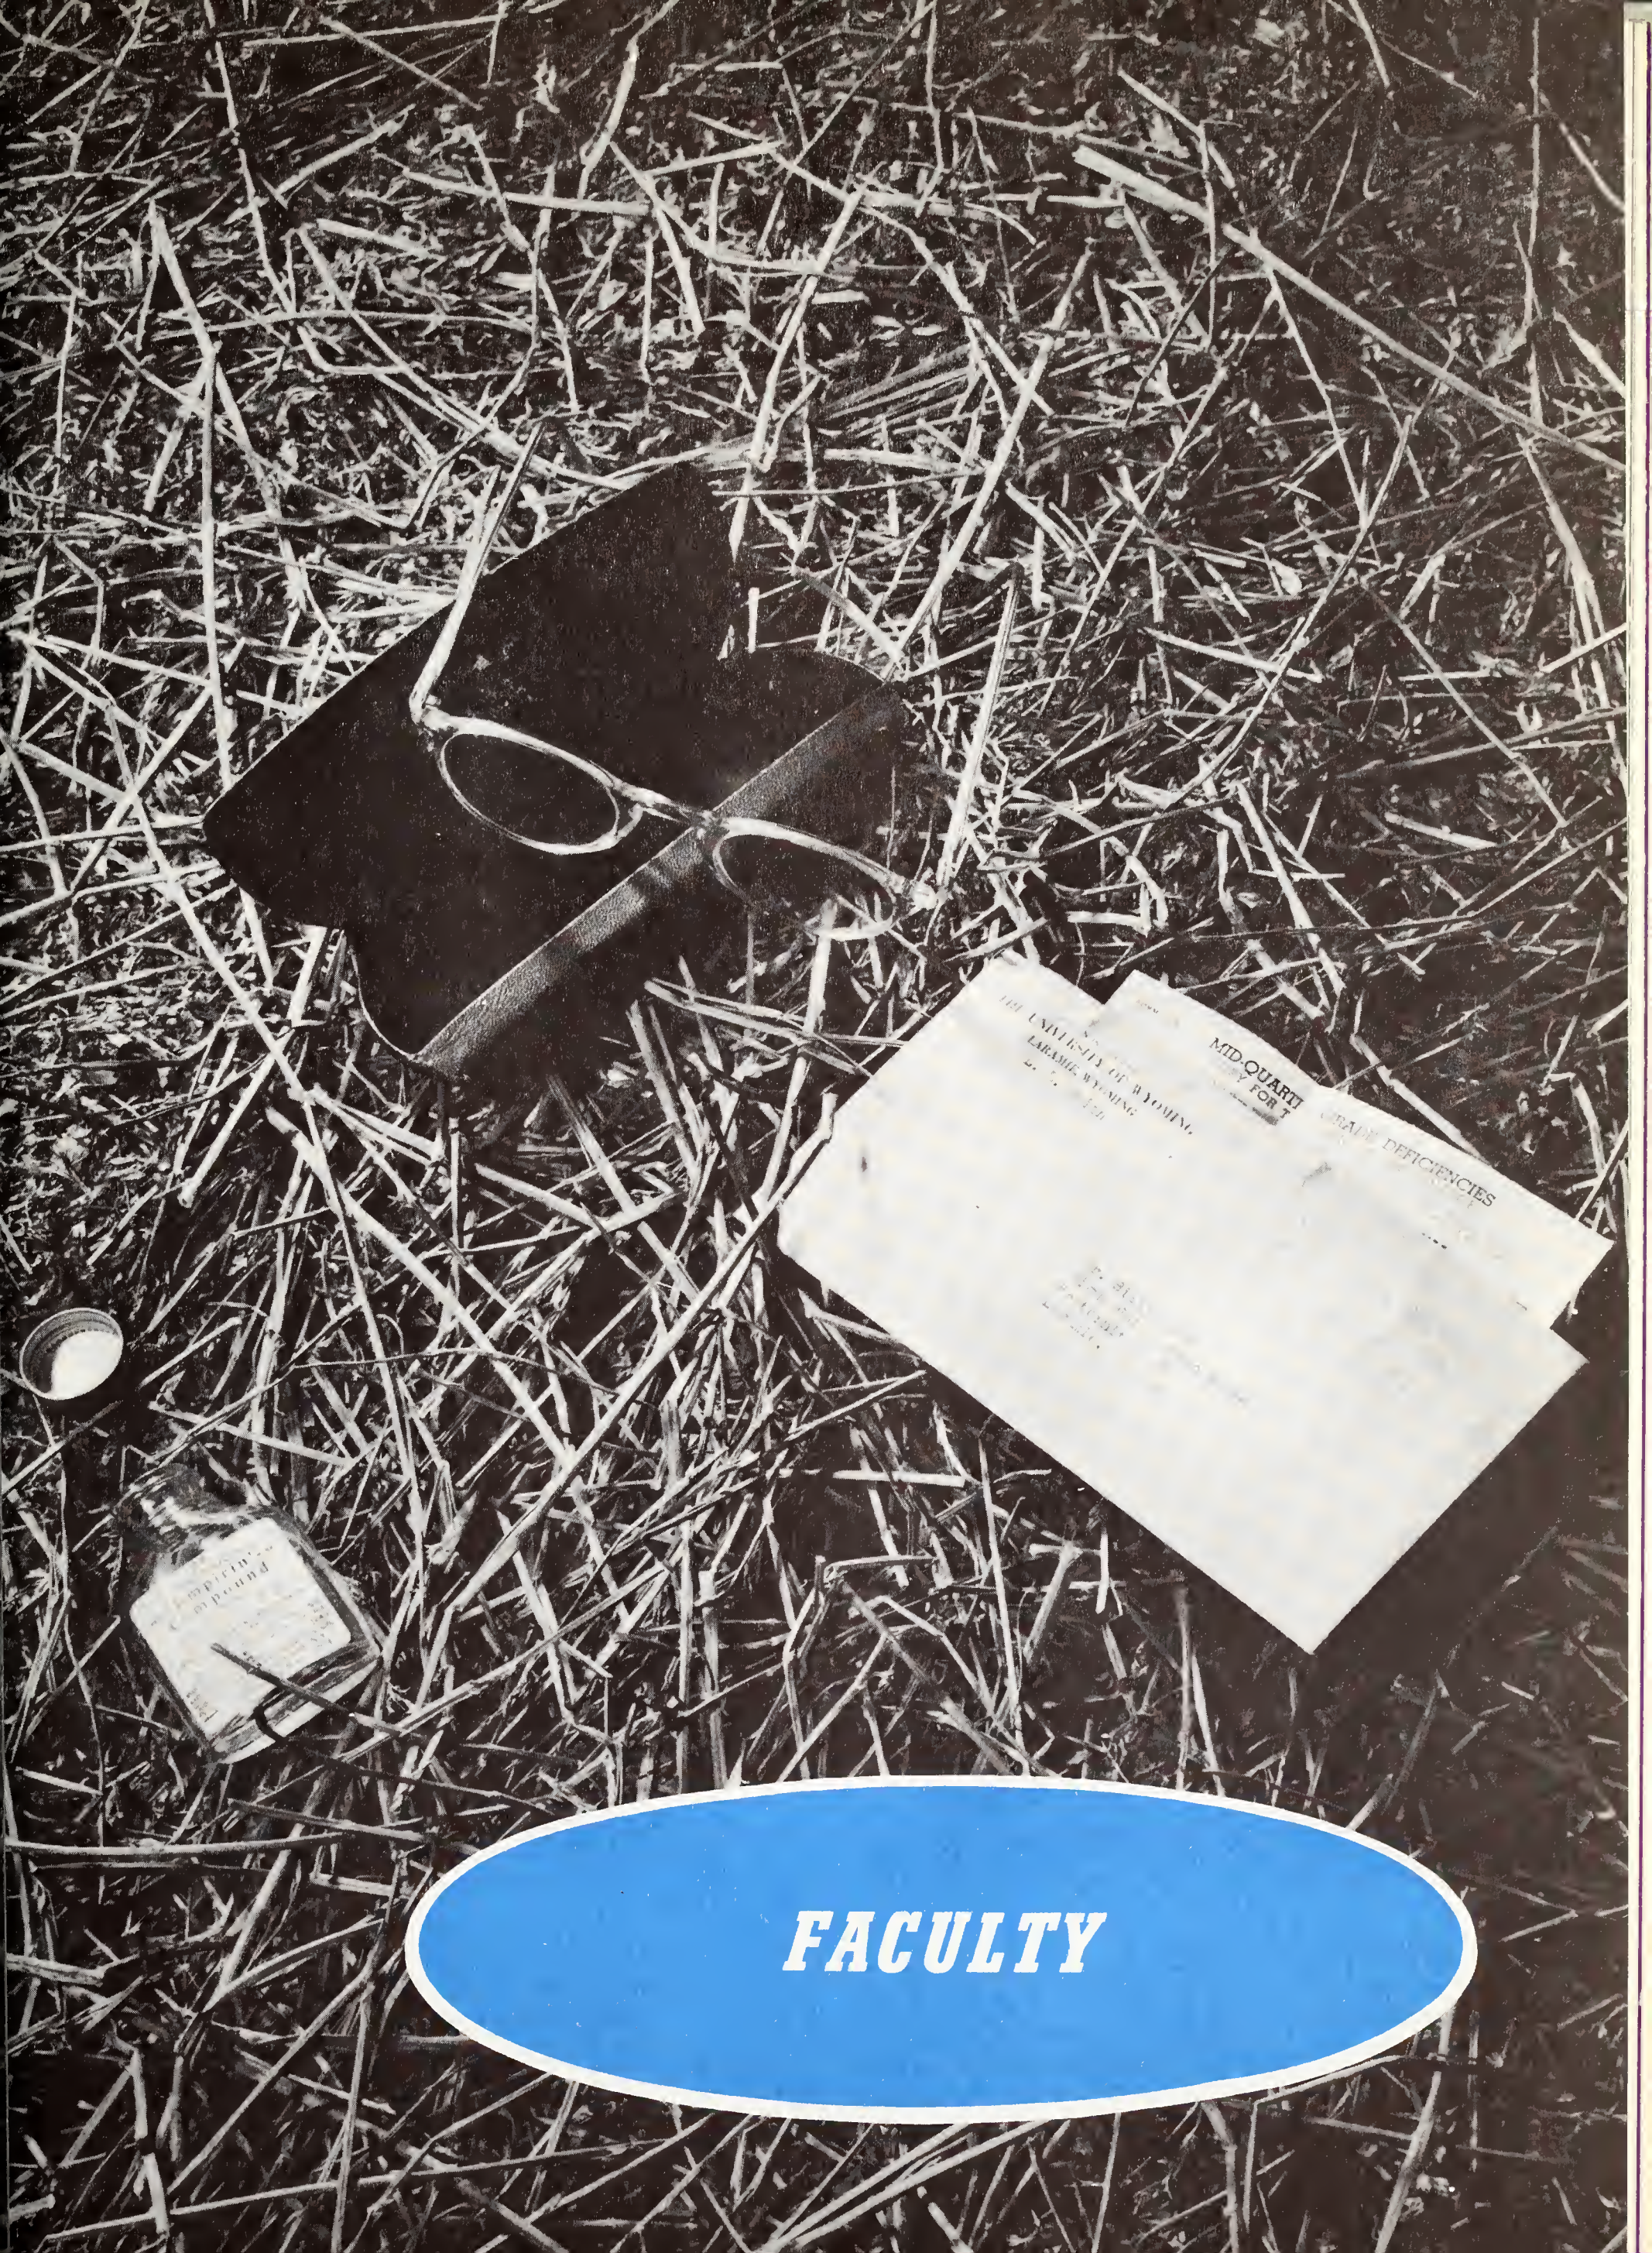
As you walk into the cashier's office and look toward the back, you see another office and here sits the key man in the sphere of the University's finances.

Fay E. Smith started handling the business affairs of the University in 1921 when he became secretary of the Board of Trustees. Later when the system was modernized, the position of comptroller was created and added to his secretarial duties.

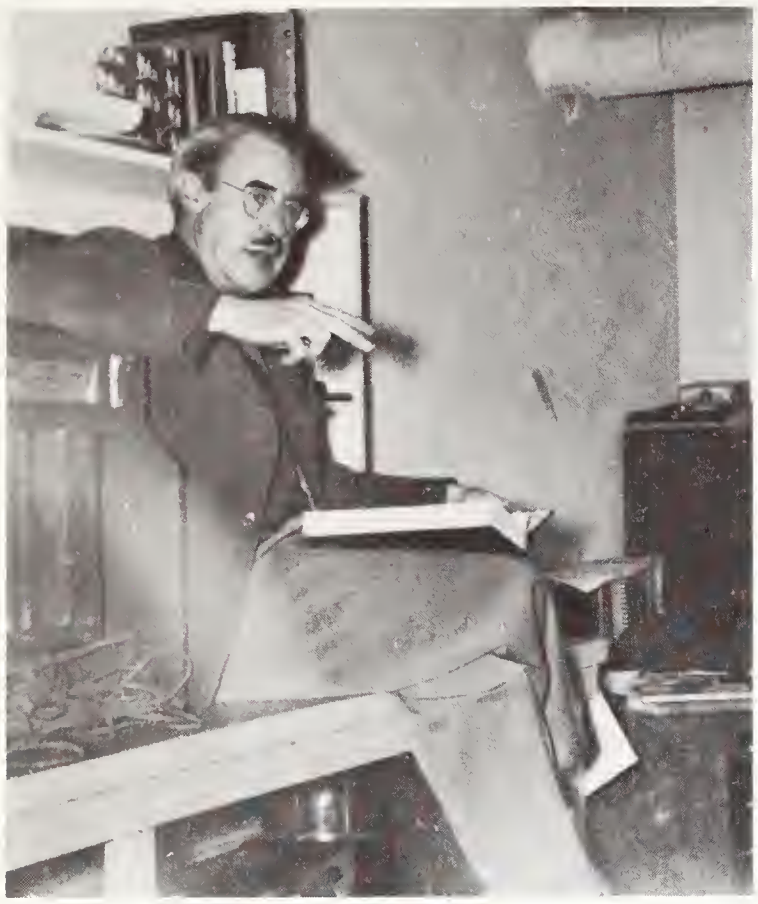
When Mr. Smith left Massachusetts to come to Wyoming and homestead, little did he realize that financial worries would be the product of this progressing university. The problem of getting money and spending it in the right places is not only a student problem but one that confronts Mr. Smith every day.

As a dean working with facts and figures, Mr. Smith keeps our university out of the red and the budget solid as the famous Rock of Gibraltar.

FAY E. SMITH
Comptroller

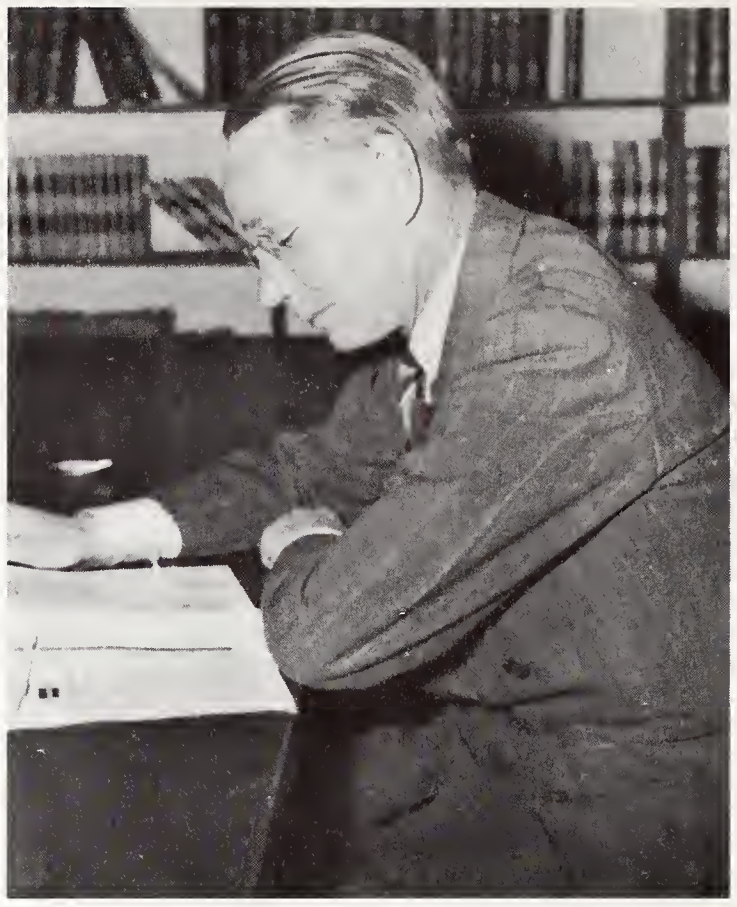


FACULTY



RICHARD DUNHAM

The curtain rises, the curtain falls,
The audience then crowds the halls;
Behind the scenes, the man who runs 'em
Is none other than our Dr. Dunham.



HENRY T. NORTHEN

Dr. Northen teaches botany,
He thinks it's really grand;
To tell you all quite logically
How plants grow from the land.

MARJORIE J. MORSE

Miss Morse is noted for lectures
Of Russia and Europe's day;
Though finals come and finals go,
You'll find she's toujours gai!

CLARENCE F. BARR

Mr. Barr in the engine hall
Teaches math to one and all;
The figures are inside his head—
At least, that's what one student said.

A. J. DICKMAN

Ooo la la, what have we here,
So fresh from gay Paree?
It's Dr. Dickman, no one else,
Who's screaming out Oui, Oui!!

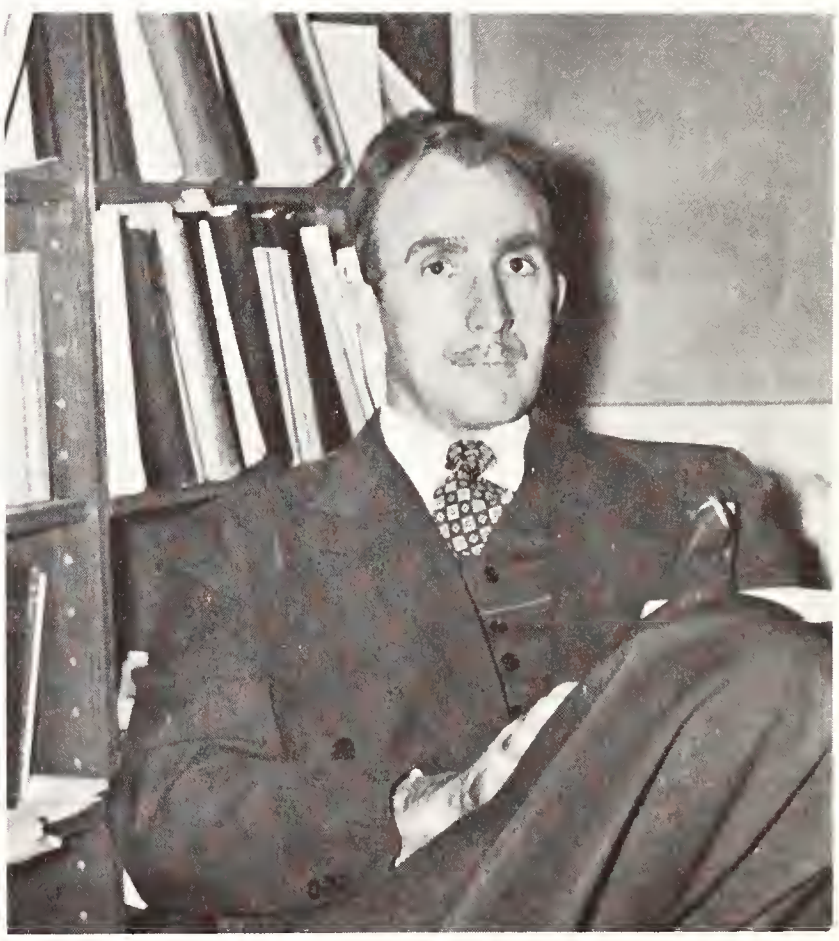
HENRY HUIZINGA

Huizinga in zoology labs
Cuts up toads and cats and crabs;
His students all dissect with pride
Specimens in formaldehyde.

GERD W. HOLBORN

Mr. Holborn, in three quarters,
Tells the fate of all reporters;
Newspaper work is just his meat—
A man like him just can't be beat.



ALFRED T. LARSON

From ancient Greece to modern time
Dr. Larson leads the climb
To greater knowledge of our past;
One course from him won't be your last.

LILLIAN G. PORTENIER

The catatonic stands so still,
The hebephrenic's really nil,
But alcoholics are a kill,
We-ll, Peo-ple!!

ROBERT W. LINDENSTRUTH

If your stock should have a pain
From eating too much hay and grain,
Lindenstruth will make them well;
His knack for this is really swell.

WALLACE BIGGS

In Journalism's hall of fame
There dwells a Mr. Biggs, by name;
With Unquote, B I., Wyo, too,
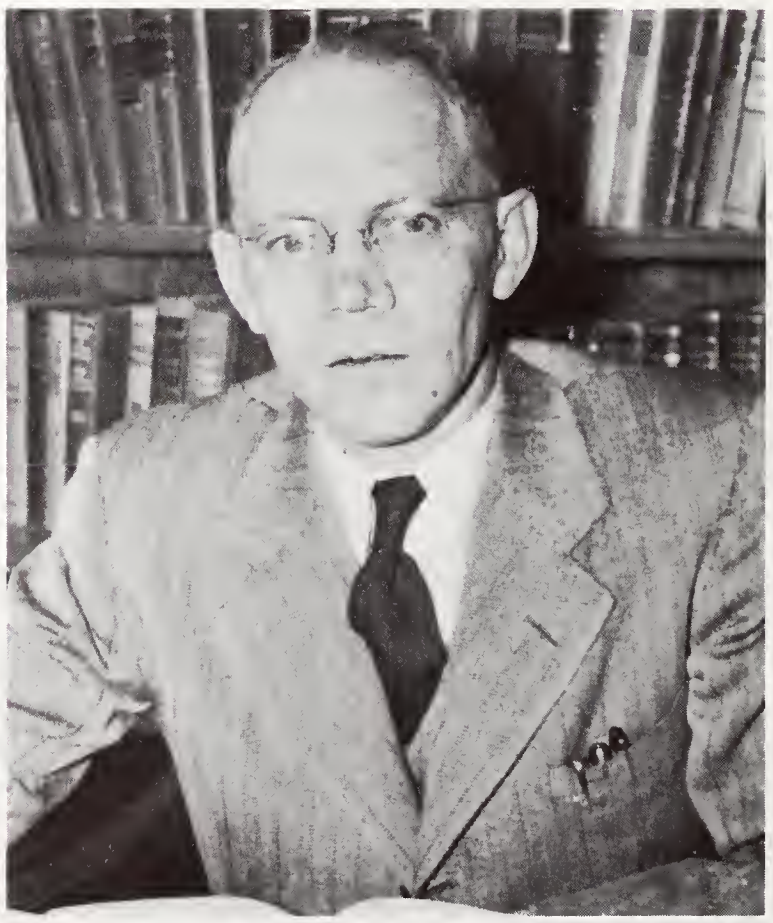
He has no time to bill and coo.



L. FLOYD CLARKE

A course for future doctors
Is taught by Dr. Clarke;
You have to know what makes you tick
To get a real good mark.

DEAN G. NICHOLS

If you like to gab a lot,
But correct dictation you ain't got,
Go take a class from Mr. Nickols,
From then on out, your speech just trickles.

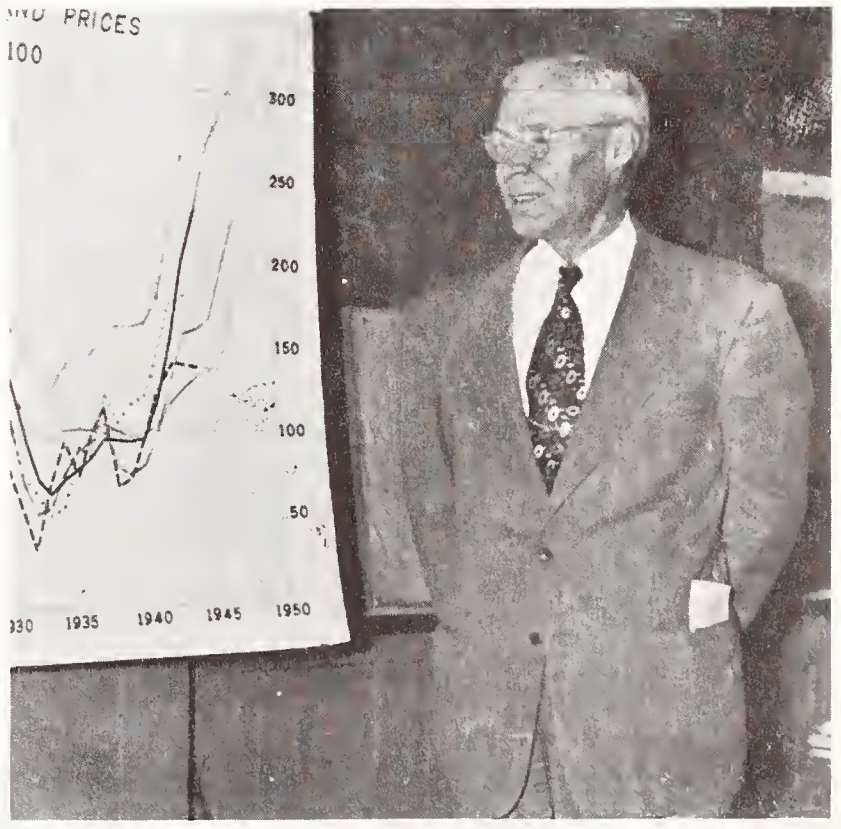
CLARENCE H. BOWER

Through the microscope Mr. Bower
At bacteria germs will glower;
One day the germs looked back at
Bower;
Now they're swooning by the hour.

REED W. FAUTIN

Over our heads with many a quip
Fautin cracks a long, black whip;
A wildlife conservation director,
Of big game animals he's protector.



A. F. VASS

In agriculture, Dr. Vass
Takes his little farming class
Out to see what makes things grow—
He teaches all they need to know.

Men's Residence Hall

With its native sandstone structure, its sometimes enjoyable duty of housing over 100 men, the Men's Residence hall stands solemnly amidst construction hub bub, and still retains its weathered, handsome appearance. Men in this, the most beautiful dorm on the campus, have formed an organization in order to maintain representation of their varied interests. Mrs. Price lends her southern hospitality to the dwelling, and Neal Bate is the president. For all its formal crowded condition, in which the population was once doubled, for all the activity within its walls, Men's Residence has the true spirit and challenge of the "Cowboy Campus."

This club is for the history majors and minors who like to meet socially and have a community digest of pertinent historical knowledge. Interesting topics introduced by prominent speakers represent the club's reputation.

Newman Club

The affiliation for Catholic students at the University of Wyoming is the Newman Club, one of a branch of a national organization of Newman Clubs for Catholic young people. The Newman Club is designed to develop all phases of life for these students and members discuss philosophies, intellectualize and socialize at meetings. Conventions of the clubs in the intermountain region are held yearly.

Lewis Ruffini is president.

Canterbury Club

Meeting every Sunday evening at their club house, the Canterbury Club, is an organization for Episcopal students attending the University of Wyoming. Discussion of any and all problems of interest to the students is in order. Along with the serious side, you can be sure they are always ready and willing to invite new friends into the organization. But perhaps more important they are always prepared to have a good time. The club elects two members yearly to represent them on SCRO Roger Baroody is president of the club and Samuel Hirasawa is treasurer.

KEITH LUPTON TAKES A REST!

Have you had your leg broken yet? The Outing Club will arrange this for you. All you need is four sound, (or healing) limbs, spirit of adventure, and you too may be an Outer. Just name your sport and the Outing Club will accomodate; whether it be hockey, skiing, skating, hiking, folk dancing, or weekend trips to the "recreation camp." Miss Louise Roloff of the Women's P.E. Dept. formed the University Ski Club which developed into this present group. This is not a professional group, nor are members chosen by their skill, but it is one that encourages people in whatever sports they may be interested in and to help them do better. The president of these enthusiasts is Keith Lupton with Warren Hagist as treasurer.

Potter Law Club

The club for the men who burn that midnight oil in the library is the Potter Law Club. All prospective (or should we say hopeful) lawyers are eligible for membership in this organization named after Charles N. Potter, Wyoming Supreme Court member and jurist. Although the club's dinner dance and a spring picnic are big events on campus, Homecoming is THE time of the year for the barristers to shine. Elections of the Homecoming Queen are kept legal by these men with their gavels and their suspicious instinct for "ballot-box-stuffers." The lawyers make their stage performance during the Homecoming sing when they introduce the Queen even though it might be "Sally Bones"; for the game an honored section is boxed off for them to surround the lady of the day. All these annual antics are only a small part of their activities; the cultivation of volumes as always is their main objective.

This year's officers for the black-derbied men are Robert Murphy, chancellor and Malcom Colberg, secretary-treasurer.

Home Ec Club

The gals who believe in getting practice along with theory are the potential homemakers on campus. Everything from a balanced diet to sock mending is mastered by this group before they get out of this "ye old institution." Community service and the sponsoring of fellowships are among the worthy activities carried on by the club.

Ruth Graves is president of these industrious women and Norma McRae is treasurer.

For the men who know—sniff, sniff—grass from bushes, we can look to the members of the Ag. Club. With hoe in one hand and a pitchfork in the other these men can attack any problem . . . from the theory of raising grain to the judging of cattle. The purpose of this organization is to strengthen interest in agriculture and the large role it is playing in our economy today The person who wields the gavel is Joe Donlin, and Leland Grandy is treasurer.

PROFESSOR OF MILITARY SCIENCE & TACTICS

The mission of the Reserve Officers Training Corps is to lay the foundation of intelligent citizenhip within the student, and give him such military training as will be of benefit and value to him and to the military service, if he becomes a member. Recognizing that preparation for National Defense the University requires two years basic military instruction of all qualified male students as prerequisite to graduation.

The University of Wyoming ROTC unit, since reactivation following World War II, has enjoyed a high national standing. The 1947-48 inspecting team of officers accorded the Wyoming unit a rating of SUPERIOR, the highest rating authorized.

Girls' Rifle Team

Starting the new year with a "bang," the rifle team is blazing it's way to the top. With a firing line of the best marksmen this school has ever seen, the team has high hopes for '49.

This last year has seen the art of "rifle-shooting" come into it's own on the University of Wyo. campus. It is now recognized as a minor sport, with the teams climbing into the top ranks of the nation.

In the last two years coach Boley has produced two out of the three "All-American" riflemen in the west, an accomplishment which more than speaks for itself.

Rifle marksmanship is dependent on skill, coordination, and steady nerves beyond the comprehension of those who have not tried it. The rapidly growing national appreciation of this participants' sport is reflected on our own campus as the "firing five" blast open the doors to new glory.

Wildlife Conservation Club

Has your conscience ever said: "Don't shoot that deer, don't catch that fish?" If it has, you might well be qualified to be a member of the Wildlife Conservation club. Although this club is still in the fledgling stage they are now doing the groundwork for future progress.

It started in the fall of 1946 with 35 charter members. Students enrolled in the professional curriculum of wildlife management are eligible for the club. The purpose is to foster interest and better understanding of wildlife problems.

The head conservative of the group is Harry Johns; George Baxter is the sponsor, and Dr. R. W. Fautin is the faculty advisor.

"W" Club

Have you ever wondered who those men are that wear the brown jackets with the big yellow "W"? Perhaps you thought the "W" stood for wheel, or did you think they belonged to a welcome committee? Although both those guesses might be true, actually the "W" Club is for the University athletes who have lettered in one of the major sports. Some of the ways these robust young men obtain letters is to play a certain amount of time in football or basketball, or, score a specified sum of points in track or swimming conference meets. Although the club is one of the older organizations on campus, it did not function during the war and has just become active with it's re-organization this year.

Carl Rollins was chosen the director of these athletes with Roy Peck as advisor; Jim Nolan, secretary-treasurer. The club also has an Executive Board composed of Bob Beckett and Keith Bloom.

JUST THINKING——

Architectural Engineers

When this group assembles, it is not tall tales, but tall buildings and long bridges that are the center of discussion. The society has no set program of meetings or social schedule. Special meetings are called for the election of officers and round table discussions, with guest speakers, on the progress of architectural engineering. The organization is formed for all architecture students on the Wyoming University campus.

Professor O. G. Woody is the club's sponsor. William L. Allen is president and Peter R. Hansen is treasurer.

Red Pencil

THE OFFICERS HOLD AN EXECUTIVE MEETING.

Red Pencil is the appropriate name chosen for the Wyoming chapter of Future Teachers of America. Perhaps the name was chosen for teachers' affinity for little red marks on students' papers. Nevertheless the organization's purpose is to acquaint future teachers with other members of their profession and to sponsor get-togethers. This year the club boasts a membership of 165. Red Pencil meets once a month and has had varied programs for the year.

Officers for the Future Teachers of America are: Peggy Hitchcock, president; John Wheal, vice-president; Dorothy Miller, secretary; and Hank Chadey, treasurer.

Pharmacy Club

If someone should approach you and suddenly exclaim, "Take a powder," don't become alarmed. No doubt he is a member of the Pharmacy Club, and means no harm.

Organized more than a year ago, the club's foremost aim is to further the progress and to promote interest in the new College of Pharmacy on the University campus.

The club's sponsor is Dr. O'Day. The officers for this year are Andrew Long, president; Charles Vaughn, vice-president; Ted Robinson, secretary and J. D. Brice, treasurer.

Ceratopsian Club

Bring your picks and we'll have a picnic. The one group on campus that has an academic motive behind their treks to the hills is the Ceratopsians. These Geology majors have formed this organization so that they can actually get down to the cold hard facts and enjoy themselves while doing so. With Wyoming as their backyard, a club of this sort has a wide range in which to work. New and interesting resources can always be presented for these geologists to ponder over. Perhaps one of these Ceratopsians may come across some new rock or element that will bring more fame to Wyoming; then the rest of us will be able to say, "Dah——, I always knew we'd be famous."

All you need is your points; you can get these points by participating in games such as basketball or volley ball or being active in dancing, skiing, swimming (wrestling?) or any of the other accepted sports. Any girl enrolled in the University Physical Education courses is eligible and may even end up being awarded with numerals, letters, or sweaters. An official playday for the gals comes annually in the spring when they meet face to face with the Colorado "femme fatales" to match beauty and brawn.

Independents

Every Monday night at seven, the ballroom in the Wyoming Union begins to hum with activity as the largest independent student organization on the Wyoming University campus is called to order. During the meetings discussion is brought forth concerning the University, its problems and activities.

Joe Terran, president of the club, keeps order as this powerful group discusses and smooths the way for such events as their annual spring quarter picnic, and nominations for their choice for the homecoming queen. The club's secretary is Carol Blair; Ruth Hatcher is treasurer.

The members remain after the meetings for the social hour that follows and the juke box is put to good use.

Hoyt Hall

I dreamt I dwelt in freshman halls with tin cots and crowds at my side . . . or "I lived in Hoyt Hall." Freshmen women first coming down to the grandeur of the state university usually bunk at this oldest residence still operating, until they become sophomores and move on to bigger and better things. Although dear old Hoyt is often a basis for complaint, living there is an experience few of the coeds would want to give up. ALWAYS SMILING MURPHY —

Student Senate

For the first time in the history of the University of Wyoming, the Student Senate has been an active body. This year led by a personable, able lawyer, Bob Murphy, the Student Senate set their aims high and accomplished these aims with the vigor that was typical of the whole Senate attitude. At times this governing body went into a problem with arms flying and words freely expressed. Their opinions did not always coincide, and their views were sometimes strained against one another, but out of this healthy situation came a forceful group, and a great deal of accomplishments. One of the problems that has not been solved yet, but will soon be is the Student Union and its lack of profits. The student body is confident that whatever this representative group starts to work on, it will be finished for the better welfare of the majority. Other able hardworking A.S.U.W. senators were Vice-President Ronald Keelan, Fall quarter Secretary Virginia McBride, Senators Fred Baggs, Bob Justice, Lyle Sylte, Walt Urbight, and a host of others who more than contributed their share to an efficient, and by far the BEST, Senate in years.

Collegiate 4-H Club

Recently reorganized on the campus, the members of the University of Wyoming 4-H Club continue to personify the four H's (head, heart, hands and health), ideals set up by national 4-H clubs all over the country. Mastery of homemaking and agriculture is the purpose of 4-H. Leaders of the club this year are: Ruth Harris, president; Dan Fosher, vice-president; Charles Verstratton, secretary; and Leon Grandy, treasurer.

Wesley Foundation

The Methodist organization for the University of Wyoming students who affiliated or have leanings toward this branch of Protestantism is the Wesley Foundation. The Student Center that the church has provided is the place where students can go to relax, study, or take part in group fellowship. Married students form an additional group. They have their private club called the Golden Circle. Rev. Moore guides this inspirational group with Charles Nowlen, president, and Victor Smith, treasurer.

Phi Kappa Phi

Ranking with Phi Beta Kappa in the realms of the scholar, Phi Kappa Phi, Wyoming's first honorary, was founded by Dr. Aven Nelson at Laramie in 1915. The promotion of scholastic achievement is Phi Kappa Phi's chief aim and the members collaborate with two other honoraries in giving an honors dinner. Leading the scholars this year is Dean Nichols.

Chi Gamma Iota

A new honorary on campus this year is Chi Gamma Iota. Membership is open to any World War II veteran with the required scholastic average. The aim of the organization is to encourage the ex-G.I.'s to excel in their collegiate work or at least go to classes not only to keep the V.A. happy but for their own betterment. If you will notice, the last Greek letters in the club's name spell G.I. Officers of this organization are: Russell Mai, president; Harry John, vice-president; Dean Addington, secretary, John Shanahan, treasurer, Dean W. E. Daniels and Alfred Mains are advisors.

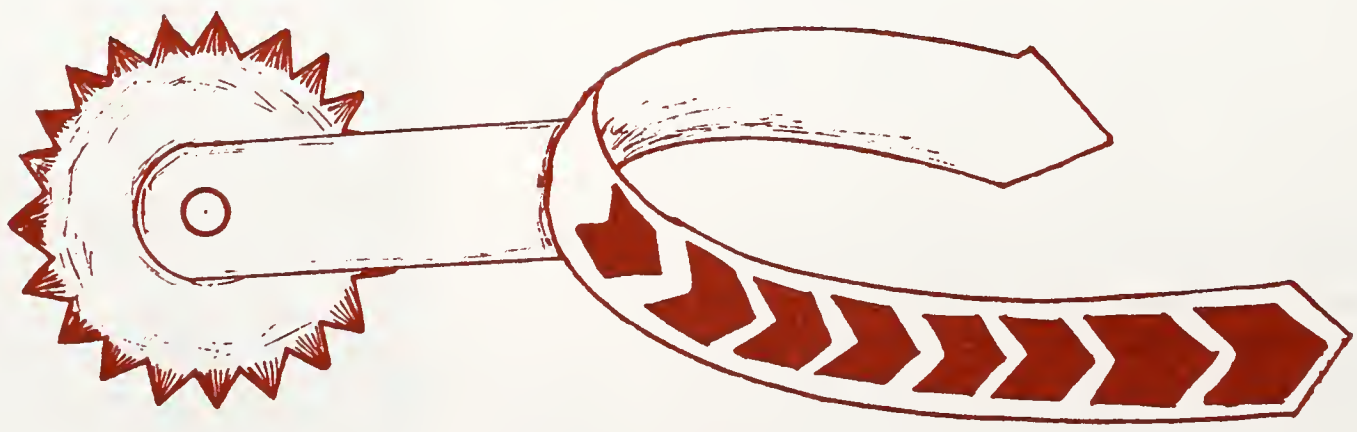
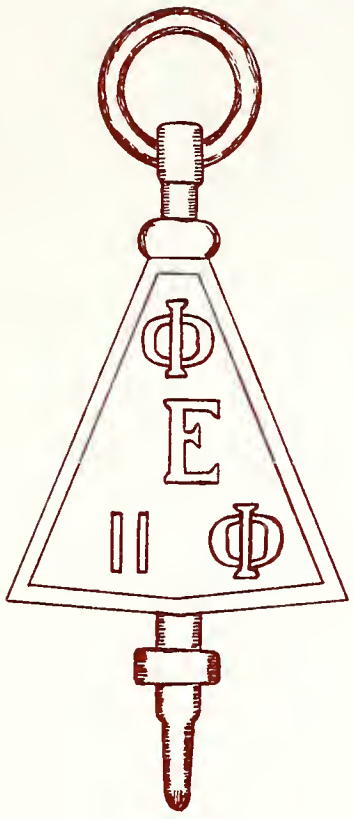
Spurs

Sophomore women who have been rewarded for really digging in and making scholastic achievements for their freshmen work are the Spurs. Pure white garb signifies intellect which distinguishes these young ladies from the rest of us motley characters; their costume also aids the assembly-goer to find an usher in case of emergency. During the games we can see this promising group occupying a strategic position among the spectators and forming a cheering section worthy of example. The Spurs were organized on this campus in 1928 and have become one of the most active service organizations we have. The main prong in the Spurs this year is Pat Janssen; Donna McArthur is the treasurer.



Phi Epsilon Phi



The rah, rah boys on campus have become known as the Phi Eps and can be seen at any game rootin' their lungs out to cheer on the team. Picked for scholarship as well as leadership, two men from each Greek and Independent organization are sorted out and given gold sweaters to make a colorful and eminent crew. As a service organization these men help in the homecoming procedures, elections, ushering and sponsor a dance of their own in which the Phi Ep queen is chosen. Sophomore men who are chosen for this honorary are the male counterparts of the Spurs.

Tom Hannum, president, is the chief "pepster" of the group.

Membership is open to Home Ec majors of junior standing and members are considered on the basis of scholarship, service and professional attiude. Phi Upsilon Omicron was founded in 1915 and is the first honorary sorority on campus.

Kappa Kappa Psi

Counterpoint, theory, symphony, harmony and all other terms of the musician's world are familiar to members of Kappa Kappa Psi, honorary music fraternity which was re-organized on this campus in 1946 and installed in April of 1947.

Officers of Kappa Kappa Psi are: Allen Barkley, president, and George Peppinger, treasurer.

Iron Skull

The honorary for the junior class members who are all around scholars and leaders is Iron Skull. Each Greek and Independent organization selects two of its members to represent them for the year. The mark of distinction for the participants in this society is a small skull in the form of a pin which is worn with much pride. The club's functions consist of sponsoring the Homecoming Sing and the Iron Skull Skid.

Alpa Zeta

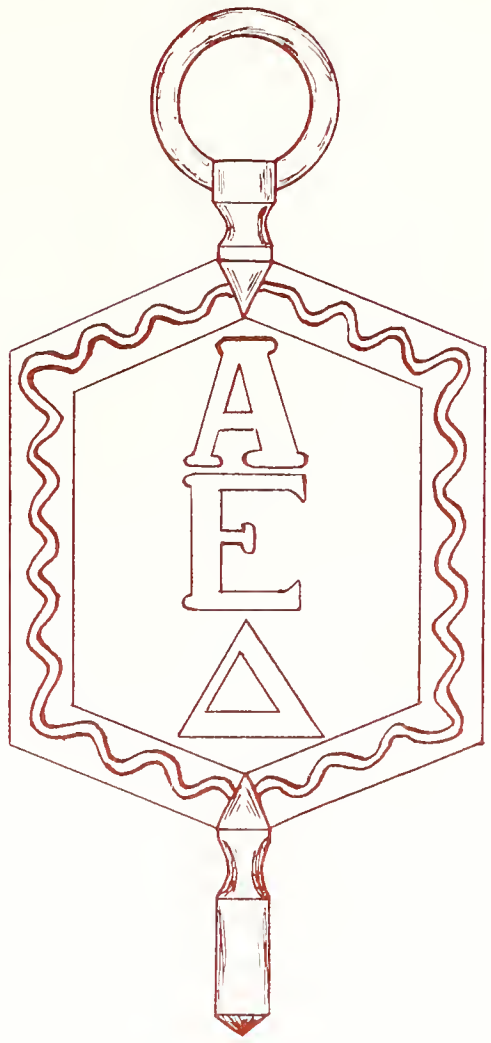
LEADER OF AG HONORARY, CAL DODGE.

The "brains" in the field of agriculture are gathered together and bound by the ties of Alpha Zeta, national honorary. These men have learned their theory on crop rotation and animal breeding to the point of attaining scholarship worthy of Alpha Zeta. These young men who are getting their basic training in one of the best Ag schools in the country are preparing themselves to be future leaders in agricultural areas all over the country as well as Wyoming. With a new building and modern equipment, the Ag school and honorary will have even a greater challenge.

Calvert Dodge is chancellor of the group and Dr. Starr is the advisor.

Alpha Epsilon Delta

DONALD HUNTON, PRESIDENT



The students who strive for their M.D.'s may be associated with scalpels and cats. Their evident familiarity with the anatomy of a cat may explain the noticeable absence of cats on campus. Constantly striving for recognition in the sciences these students try to achieve the highest honor in their field—membership in Alpha Epsilon Delta. Established in 1939 on the Wyoming campus, Alpha Epsilon Delta strives to maintain the high standards of pre-medical organizations so that their members will be admitted to specialized institutions following their graduation.

Don Hunton is president of this hopeful group of physicians, dentists and technicians.

Quill Club

Do you like to write and want to utilize your talents? If so, why not apply for membership in Quill Club? The club's main purpose is to promote literary talents, and membership may be acquired by the submission of two approved manuscripts.

This year's president of Quill Club is Louis Schultheis.

Phi Gamma Nu

An honorary for those charming future secretaries (or should we say knee-sitters?) who have conquered those courses that often dampen the spirits of some of the best commerce students is Phi Gamma Nu. This organization is for women only, which forces the men into their own fraternity, Alpha Kappa Psi. Professional spirit and extended interests in commerce are encouraged by the club.

Eileen Beyda is president of these commercial whizzes; Mrs. Summers acts as the faculty advisor.

JACK OF ALL TRADES—BOB JUSTUS.

With the clicking of typewriters, adding machines, and the drone of dictation, plus the sweat of a "100-hour accounting problem," the Alpha Kappa Psi potential members have passed their "test," and if they rank "waaaay up thar" in the grade bracket to boot, then they are eligible for this Commerce honorary for men. It takes a lot of adding and subtracting, knowledge of markets, selling, retailing and all the other commercial field's problems and work to get in this honorary. Their main aims are to acquaint their members with the future and present problems of business and industry. The organization member should have no trouble in filling any kind of commercial job when they get out, with a background as complete as this.

Alpha Kappa Psi officers are: Bob Justus, president; Vince Johnston, secretary; and Chuck Lordsei, treasurer.

Big Sisters

You've heard of the home away from home . . . well, we have a club on campus to sponsor a sister away from home for every freshman girl. This organization, called Big Sisters, is composed of girls that have filed an application and have been chosen by the Dean of Women. Besides their emergency aid to new gals going through freshman orientation they also take the credit for the most formal get-together of the year . . . the Coed "Brawl." During this costume ball prizes are awarded for outfits ranging from the most ridiculous to the most sublime. Various assorted men who try to become coed for a night ultimately find themselves ousted in their attempt to crash the "party."

Scholarship and leadership . . . two qualities that may allow a senior woman to wear a black covered square of cardboard that means honor and distinction. Mortar Board rewards these enterprising seniors annually by welcoming them into the folds of the organization and giving them one of the most highly coveted pins on campus. Each spring we can see the candlelite procession of the Mortar Boards as they gather in their new members. The constant question in the minds of the Juniors is . . . who will make it this year?

The organization aims to acquaint freshmen with the engineering school, awards medals to the freshmen in engineering with the highest scholastic average, promotes the interest of outside engineers in the University and sponsors a fall quarter smoker. Scholarship, sociability and practicality are stressed by the group.

Phi Epsilon Kappa

The students of the University that have their push-ups as well as their muscle-building theory down pat are the members of Phi Epsilon Kappa. This physical education honorary embraces those majors in this field that have proved themselves worthy by high scholarship. Although this is a newly-established honorary, their healthful aims are becoming increasingly realized by the rest of the campus.

Theta Alpha Phi

If you see a Wyoming student walking about the campus, gesturing and talking to himself madly, don't jump to conclusions; it might be a member of Theta Alpha Phi just practicing for his latest play. Although this organization is national, it originated on this campus as the Thalian Club. As a dramatic honorary, members are chosen on the basis of their skill and extent of their artistic work. The best actor and actress of the year are sought out and given recognition as the stars in this galaxy.

Scabbard and Blade

Ever since Scabbard and Blade was founded at Wyoming in 1929, it has retained a prominent position on the campus. The members of this honorary group are elected on the basis of above average grades both in university and military courses. In addition to ski jaunts and spring quarter parties, Scabbard and Blade helps to sponsor the Military Ball and the selection of the Cadet Queen. Chuck Pugh flourishes the sword for this group and is ably assisted in holding up the hilt by Byron Hacker, vice-president; Lou Cummins, secretary; Dick Johnson, treasurer; Dick Sinclair, social chairman; and Gene Muller, senator.

Gamma Sigma Epsilon

A NOTE IS TAKEN BY PHILLIP WOOD.

Students who really know their way around test tubes, microscopes and formulas are better known as members of Gamma Sigma Epsilon, national chemistry honorary. Gamma Sigma Epsilon strives to promote the interests of young chemists and each year presents an honor book to the outstanding freshman chemistry student. They also send delegates to the national chemistry convention which is held in Athens, Georgia. Membership may be attained with a high scholastic average in the physical sciences and a definite familiarity with formulas.

The Artists and Models Ball, one of the big annual events of the year in which the Ideal Model is chosen, is put on by this smock and beret group.

Dickman for romance language students to further intellectual study, Phi Sigma Iota members prepare papers on important French or Spanish personages, which are read during the meetings.

As an outgrowth of Blue Pencil, Pi Delta Epsilon has emerged to show its shining new face. This journalism honorary accomplishes many campus-shaking events . . . among them are the Gridiron Banquets, where the campus leaders come together to discuss pressing student issues. The two people who have given the most constructive criticism are awarded red derbies which they are supposed to wear the day following the banquet. The Inkslingers' Ball, sponsored by this organization, is the climax to the BEAUTY QUEEN and popularity contests. Pi Delts also judge the best dailies and weeklies in the state. Inter-Fraternity Council

The mediators for the frats on Wyoming campus are known as the Inter-Fraternity Council. This group of aspiring Apollos does the policy-forming and law-making for the combined fraternities. Whether a movement for student betterment or some petition in rebellion, this council represents the Greek men's view on the subject and becomes a powerful influence. Closer cooperation among the frats is sought by this student body instead of cut-throat competition that has been thought of as characteristic of "the boys" and their high jinks. Spring quarter is the season for the big Inter-Fraternity Ball when the badges from all the frats are brought out to form a gleaming constellation.

Fred Baggs is president this year and Milton Hines, treasurer.

FRED BAGGS, President

Pan Hellenic

The feminine counterparts of the Inter-Fraternity Council are the two Pan-Hellenic Councils. The Junior Pan-Hellenic is composed of underclasswomen who are learning their basic and will move up to the senior group of the organization. The Senior "Pan-Hell" members are the girls that have been around the campus long enough to know what will help the women they are counciling and also have become wise in the ways of rule-making. Two representatives from each of the six sororities are elected by their respective "sisters" to serve on the council. These chosen Greek women work on policies that help freshmen going through rush week and making the hard decision, as well as guiding the old-time members of the sororities.

Some of the more presumptive persons may wonder if the lyres that are sported around campus are symbols of a sacred order of angels; although this may be true, actually they are the pins representing the Alpha Chis. This group of girls reside in an Italian stucco house on Grand Avenue between town and campus . . . convenient, no matter what direction you feel like going. Spring quarter is the season the gals give their big dance (formal, that is), in which they laugh and play and run merrily into the hills.

Beta Kappa, the Wyoming chapter of Alpha Chi Omega, made its entrance on campus in 1930. The chapter's members of major importance are: Betty Lou Holliwell, president of the sorority . . . Loma Jane Lehner, Junior Pan-Hellenic representative . . . Joann Small, Senate representative of W. A. A., and A. W. S. treasurer . . . Maxine Pence, reporter and publicity chairman of the Rodeo Association.

Rising to fame and fortune, the Chi O's have really gotten up there when it comes to holding down campus offices and being active in the various university organizations. Besides their abilities as natural-born leaders, these girls were awarded the 1947-48 Scholarship Cup, which must be a sign of good all-around intellect. The Chi Omega house is another sorority manor on Grand Avenue (the others being Alpha Chi Omega and Kappa Delta), a fact that enables the gals to just sit on their front porch and view the passing parade and not have to go to the Union to see all their buddies . . . We wouldn't recommend this practice winter quarter, however.

The house in fraternity park with the white paint, long veranda, and a friendly atmosphere is the Tri-Delts' abode. Known for many things . . . partying seniors . . . tres bon underclasswomen, and varied personalities (if we ain't got it here, it doesn't live!). They are also known for the consistency of copping honors . . . such as Inkslinger Queen, popularity contests, and a variety of other accomplishments. Tri-Delts can be most recognized by their friendliness, spirit, and interests in outside activities (not outside the house, but outside of classes). Outstanding members-who carry the Trident are Joan Scamman, editor, Unquote Magazine; Nan Haight, editor, Dude, and publicity hound; V. J. Reckling, journalist and Wyo staff; Florence Anderson, Wyo copy editor and screwball. Then on the beauty side: Joan Smith, Phi Ep Queen; Betty Engstrom, Engineer's Queen; Frankie Saunders, ideal model; and a host of others who as yet have not entered the "sacred circle" but they will . . . they will . . . lest we forget, there is also a dancer, namely, Kay Evans, who has brightened the stage for many a university function. Lucille Clarke, Who's Who, and President of Mortar Board. Theta Eta Chapter of Delta Delta Delta was installed at the university in 1913.

The girls on Grand who are closest to the soot and cinders, meaning Laramie town, are the K. D.'s. Along with the Union Pacific's misguided missiles, however, this site that the Kappa Delta house reposes on does have its brighter side. Think of the shoe leather you save when you tramp downtown for that invigorating soda, and one must not forget the time element . . . after all, it's minutes that count when it comes to campuses. Famous neighbors of this tribe are the Ivinson Hall girls (competition?) and those varied and assorted men known as Tau's and Sig Chi's.

Rho Chapter of Kappa Delta was established at Wyoming University in 1913. This organization was the third national sorority set up on this campus. Prominent members are Shirley Reeves, chapter president . . . Alma Rubeling, Who's Who and Mortar Board . . . Ruth Graves, Who's Who and delegate-at-large of A. W. S. . . . Shirley Day, business manager of Unquote Magazine . . . and Edith Sardini, society editor of the Branding Iron.

Neatly situated between the Tri Delt and Pi Phi houses on Fraternity Park, stands the palace of the Kappa Kappa Gammas. Easily distinguished by the golden key they wear, these girls hold the honor of having as one of their distinguished members, Miss Carol Held, better known as Miss Wyoming of 1948. This charming young lady was runner-up for Miss America at Atlantic City last year.

Another very prominent member of this organization is Miss Connie Nelson who was chosen Most Popular Girl last year. Along with Agnes Burns, Connie is very active in campus affairs, cheerleading being one of her many activities.

Gamma Omicron chapter of Kappa Kappa Gammá was installed on the Wyoming campus in 1927. Prominent members include: Agnes Burns, president, Who's Who, Mortar Board and A.W.S. president; Charlotte Wallace, senator; Connie Nelson, Gerry Derr and Pat Zeigen, cheerleaders; Joyce Tate, actress; Phyllis Westlake, art editor of the Wyo; Pat Dinneen and Keating Murphy, Wyo staff; and Velda Jean Schultz, Sweetheart of Sigma Chi.

The girls that stand behind the "Arrow" are a mixture of activity girls, date fiends, book woims, and all the rest. Mix these together and you come out with Pi Beta Phi. Known for many things, but mostly their affinity for fun, the residents of the brown stone house in fraternity park walk off with more than their share of honors during the course of any year. They sang, strutted, and coaxed Lindy Lou in as Homecoming Queen (although it didn't take much coaxing). They worked and struggled for a place in the Homecoming decorations . . . in competition with fraternities . . . and they placed! All the girls wear their ARROW with pride, but the outstanding ones include: Glenna Sorensen, president of Pan-Hellenic, Mortar Board, and Who's Who, chapter president; Peggy Hitchcock, editor of the Student Directory, assistant editor of the Wyo, and president of Red Pencil; Barbara Jones, advertising manager of Unquote Magazine and class editor of the Wyo; Lindy Lou Storey, sophomore senator who holds so many beauty queen cups that there is a rumor they will have to add another shelf for her collection; Ellen Sheldon, secretary of the sophomore class; and Laura Lee Dakin, president of the International Relations Club. These and many more give the Pi Phi's the reputation of being known and in the know around campus. Wyoming Alpha was installed in 1910.

In the spring of 1926 a group of town girls banded together to form the Varsity Villagers. Since that time it has upheld tradition by participating in many campus activities and honor organizations. They plan a rounded and complete recreational program that includes parties, athletic events, picnics, and dances. The president of the VV's is Helen Henthorne, Who's Who, and a girl about the campus. Other outstanding members include: Lessie Beverly, Senator and Finance Committee big wig; Lois Harrell, personality girl; and Myra Flaharty, activity fiend. Mrs. Alex Johnston is sponsor of this Laramie and Campus organization.

L. D. S. is more fortunate than most fraternities and sororities in that they combine both male and female into an Alpha and Omega chapter. This unusual arrangement would most likely be frowned upon by our more staid national alum chapters. However, L. D. S. has combined the talents of both sexes and turned out with an enviable record. They win inter-mural contests, homecoming cups, with an agility never before recorded in any chapter on the campus. Their athletic teams are so good that they play university competition instead of wasting their time with fraternities.

L. D. S. was organized in 1936 in the state of Utah by a group of Mormon students, and a chapter was established at Wyoming in 1937. One of their most outstanding members is Lucille Clarke, Who's Who, president of Mortar Board, and Phi Beta Kappa. With a mansion on Twelfth and Grand that would put any other building in Laramie to shame. L. D. S. continues to cultivate their lists of honors. Alpha prexy is Vern Tolman, and Omega ruler is Norma McRae.

In the year 1947 (A.D.), the Wyoming chapter of Acacia was installed on campus. Based on Masonic ties, Acacia is the only fraternity not designated by Greek letters.

Although a new fraternity they have already contributed their share to the campus "great." Their location on University Avenue makes it rather difficult to indulge in such boyish pastimes as placing other people's trophies in their trophy case.

On the social side the fraternity sponsors the Twin-Twirl (or who's masquerading now?) in winter quarter and the Anniversary Ball in the spring.

Acacia leaders are: Dale Fuehrer, president; Bob Kelley, Who's Who and engineer; and Wallace Moon, musician and actor.

Just how rough can "hairy-chested men" get? From all appearances they seem harmless enough, except on occasion. The occasion might be anything from a spring picnic to an informal (to put it mildly) get-together in the house. The main event of the year, when everyone gets out their best finery and polished manners, is the Bowery Ball. Every winter quarter this ball hits the campus with a crash which causes vibrations and repercussions till way into spring. Needless to say, the Tau's are the boys who are known to always be in voice whether it's Sweet Rosie O'Grady or Palmer's Farm. This year's Homecoming Sing for the fraternity groups was won for the second time in succession by the A.T.O.'s. Notables in the field of athletics are Bob Bath, member of the Cowboy gridiron . . . Bob Schultheis, Ed Dobner, and Howie Walgren are playing varsity hockey . . . Art Bunker is the basketball representative . . . Dick Rittersporn, baseball . . . Bill Weatherill, Wyoming tennis champ . . . Bob Anderson, Dave Keller and Tom Smith do their wheeling around the track. Tom Smith is also A.T.O. prexy . . . Bob Storey is the freshman class vice-president . . . and Alvin Brungard, Who's Who.

Gamma Psi, the first national fraternity on Wyoming campus, was organized in 1913.

Though its history is short, the Betas on the University campus have become an active social organization, taking part in many of the campus functions. Way back in September of '46 it all began and in October it was recognized as an independent organization. During the second year it celebrated its first Founders' Day by being recognized by the Inter-Fraternity Council. The summer of 1948 found many members of the fraternity putting much time and effort into re-decorating their house on South 9th. The house was ready by fall quarter and the boys moved in.

Outstanding members of the group are: Bob Shilling . . . Red Christensen . . . Bob Coulehan, campus activities . . . Howard Charles, volunteer worker for the Senate . . . Jerry Reed, basketball player.

The men who can really keep their eye on their girls are the Kappa Sigs; this isn't because of any magnetic attraction but rather the strategic position of their house which affords a direct line of vision to the three sororities in Frat Park. As yet they are one of two fraternities who can boast of this advantage(?). Well-known for their lack of closets, the Sigs want everyone to know they now have ten of such enclosures. Had the actives known what "Hell Week" was going to be like this year, they would not only have dismissed with the closets, but also taken all the radiators, and anything else they might get chained to, out. Next time, boys, you better not get so many spirited pledges. Li'l Abner unwittingly started a new fad which the Kappa Sigs adopted . . . that's right, the nothing less than sensational Slobbovian Spring Stomp. Naturally this stomp and stamp takes place in December when windows and slides for entrances are in fashion. Fraternity luminaries include: Bob Thompson, Who's Who and head of Theta Alpha Phi . . . Tom Hannum, Phi Epsilon Phi . . . Tom Kilty, Iron Skull . . . Cotton Feltner, chronicler of Alpha Zeta . . . Bill O'Connell, journalist and footballer . . . Chuck O'Brien, football . . . Bill Dinneen is president of the whole crew and member of Who's Who.

Delta Gamma chapter came into being on this campus in 1921.

In May of 1948, Lambda Chi Alpha was formally installed on the University of Wyoming campus. By the end of spring quarter the national office of Lambda Chi Alpha granted this group the title of a colony. In November of 1948, they were formally recognized by the university. This group is responsible for the March of Dimes Dance on the campus and donated the proceeds for the purchase of an iron lung for Albany County and Ivinson Memorial Hospital. Members of Lambda Chi Alpha were all initiated in the general fraternity by the Fort Collins chapter. President of Lambda Chi Alpha is Paul G. Tobin.

The palatial palace of blue and white, or the white frame house on 11th to the unimaginative, houses the commonly known (for what we leave unsaid) Phi Delts. Famous event for the year is the annual hayride where everyone starts out snugly enclosed in hay, singing joyous little songs all the way to Gray's Gables. Why is it on the return trip either you are on foot or pulling a wagon with a severe case of hiccups? This year also saw the advent of the Song Title Dance; which results in the question of the year . . . should I get a crew cut and go as the Surrey with the Fringe on Top, or look natural and go as Ugly Child?

It was in 1934 that Wyoming Alpha of Phi Delta Theta became national after spending 12 years on campus as a local. Last year they won the Founders' Day Trophy which is annually awarded to the outstanding chapter in the intermediate-size universities throughout the United States and Canada. President is John R. Kochevar . . . Fred Taucher, Who's Who, and Pearly Wells are the football men . . . "Dode" Gerdom still has his title of campus character . . . Joe Donlin, Who's Who, and president of Alpha Zeta . . . Jim Nelson, swimmer.

Every organization has its nickname but the Sig Alphs seem to have more than the usual share, so, to be brief, we'll just say that they are the "bearded men" from the Tenth Street Athletic Club. The Bushman's Hop is the excuse for the beards, or any other modes of behavior that might need pardoning; this is the time to make friends or lose the ones you have. A look at the football team gives the right to call them an athletic club. Here we can see Martogolio, Pearce, Grace, Connor, Chenoweth, Fellows, Gale, Harp, Sonny Jones, Ivan Jones, Shurley, McMullen and Godfrey with the varsity. The basketball end is handled by Larson, Jim and Jack Storey, Lathrop, and Chamberlain. Copenhaver and Troseth aid the bat swingers. The wrestler is All-Conference Stray, while Goble does the cross-country. On the miscellaneous side we can take note of Chuck Chamison, local band leader, Sawyer who is taking people to the cleaners (literally), and Jack Froggatt, Eminent Archon, and Who's Who.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon first appeared on the campus as the local Sigma Beta Phi which went national SAE in 1917.

The Wyoming chapter of Sigma Chi was established on the university campus in 1930. From then until now Sigma Chi's have added beauty, happiness, and excitement to the Wyoming campus. Every fall the Sig Chi's put on diapers or play suits, get a doll, and then join the thrill and excitement of the Baby Ball.

Every spring the members and their dates assemble at another costume affair known as the Pirate Dance.

Since history is in the songs and songs remain in their hearts, they cannot forget the pages of history that Sigma Chi has written because not only do they remember, but the nation won't let them forget the "Sweetheart Song."

Their efforts and thoughts are not all social. This they proved last year when they established a scholarship to be given every year to some worthy high school graduate in Wyoming.

Outstanding of the Sigma Chi fraternity are: Bill Bon, president; Bob Justus, Who's Who, vice-president of the Student Senate; Ron Keelan and Gene Muller, Senators; and Mike Levi, column writer for the Branding Iron, and Democratic Liberal.

Still keeping that well-stocked trophy case in prominent display and walking off with scholarship honors, the Sigma Nus continue to hold their place among the Greeks on campus. Sigma Nus are known not only for their scholastic ability, but also place their share of athletes in Wyoming's well-rounded athletic program. The social event of the year for the Snakes is the oft-mentioned Chanticleer, which begins at the hour preceding the dawn and includes turk-ey-wurkey which only the Snakes know how to mix.

Wearing the White Star are such prominent men as Carl and Hardy Rollins, football palyers; Mack Peyton, one of Shelton's best; Doug Johnson, Who's Who, president of Sigma Nu and SCRO; Bruce Jensen, actor; Harry Brockley, photographer for the Wyo; Harold Hagen, Who's Who and skier; Tiny Hagen, skier; Don Hinkle, student senator and track man; and John Eaton, president of Alpha Tau Alpha. Leading the political side of the campus, Sigma Phi Epsilon marches (band and all) through their sixth year as a national fraternity. Two Who's Who nominations hold up the SPE traditions, Bill Quinn and Fred Baggs — Quinn for editing this volume called the Wyo, Baggs for his presidency of the Inter-Fraternity Council and Sig Ep chapter, and his senate and military record. Outstanding members are: Ron Livingston, senior class senator and basketball player deluxe, and, as this goes to press a possible nominee for All-American; Glen Dalrymple, another journalist, gave his ALL to the presidency of Fourth Estate and business manager of the Wyo; Lyle Sylte, Sig Ep comptroller and junior senator; Ted Chapman, fraternity and sorority editor of the Wyo; Jay Paxton, junior class president; John McLellan, skier and president of the sophomore class; Frank Norris, circulation manager of the Branding Iron; Hank Barlow, senator and rodeo man; and Filthy Helterbran, secretary to secretary to the editor of the Wyo. These and many more lend a helping hand in making Sigma Phi Epsilon one of the top fraternities on the campus.

Wyoming chapter of SPE was installed on the campus in 1943.

When walking down Tenth Street, if you should happen to hear a pronounced Eastern accent, don't be alarmed. It is probably a member of Tau Epsilon Phi fraternity. Members of one of the newest fraternities on campus, they are sometimes dubbed the easterners. Nationally, Tau Epsilon Phi originated at the department of pharmacy of Columbia University in 1910 and had been founded for students of the Hebrew faith at that school. Tau Sigma chapter was initiated at the University of Wyoming on May 3, 1947, and obtained the chapter house at 406 S. 10th St. in November of that year. In the fall of '48, the Tau Eps became members of the Inter-Fraternity Council. They also formed an alumni club at that time. Tau Ep leaders include: Leon Zimmerman, president . . . Cy Drexler, past president . . . Stu Levin, artist and actor . . . Bob Allen, journalist . . . Bill Grossman, history honor student.

We consider no man from the standpoint of those qualities and advantages he has not attained by personal effort. This is the creed of Tau Kappa Epsilon. Holding the distinctive position as the newest fraternity, Chi Eta Colony of Tau Kappa Epsilon was founded locally on the University of Wyoming campus in October, 1948. Although still local, the fraternity will become nationally affiliated in May, at which time they will fill their membership quota. On the social side the Tekes sponsor quarterly dances and dinner parties.

Outstanding Tekes are: Basil Andrikopoulos, president, debater and active in campus activities; Jim Clifton, member of the varsity rifle team; Leland Grandy, Alpha Zeta and outstanding student; and Charles Ver Straten, scholarship student.

BRANDING IRON

Every Thursday since waaaaay back when, the Branding Iron has made its weekly appearance. Some years it wasn't much good for anything but a fire starter. Other years it made the administration, faculty, and some students shudder, mutter, and wish that ornery old editor was daid. This year perhaps the latter description would fit the B.I., much to the delight of the majority of the Cowboy Joes and Janes. Francis Thornton has succeeded in making a lot of people shudder, sob in their beer, and wish that he and his staff members, too, were daid, daid, daid. However, when all the smoke clears, the tears are dried, and Thornton is only in a bound volume marked 1948-49, a lot of these freedom of the press hecklers are going to breathe a big sigh of relief. What more could a newspaper staff ask for than such a compliment as this? The B.I. had some tearful moments this year, but with it some glorious moments of victory, too. They (the staff) can justly be proud that they helped make the Branding Iron of 1948-49 a paper that caused more comment than any paper since 1927.

Let the laurels rest where they should.

THE B.I. MEETS THEIR DEADLINE.

CAL QUEAL, DESK EDITOR, TALKS IT OVER WITH VINCE SIKORA, SPORTS EDITOR.

FRANK NORRIS, CIRCULATION MANAGER. CIRCULATES.

EDITH SARDINI, SOCIETY EDTOR, MEDITATES.

FRAN THORNTON, EDITOR.

DON AMEND, BUSINESS MANAGER, FIGGERS AND FIGGERS.

Giving the students the inside story on campus affairs and issues has been the chief aim of progressive, industrious, and capable Francis Thornton, 1948-49 Branding Iron editor. Taking a definite stand on all issues has been his policy even though the truth hurts. He has made his readers aware that the Branding Iron is a student publication and his "Union" editorial was considered by many as the best and most fearless editorial ever to appear in the B.I.

BILL QUINN, EDITOR.

To our one and only Quinn without whom this book would have never been possible . . . we say "thanks," although that word could never be adequate. He came back in August bubbling with energy and prepared to publish the yearbook of the ages. And that he has done! However, this is not the result of Quinn sitting back in that chair and saying, "Do it," . . . No, he goes right in there and did twice the amount of work ever accomplished by one person. Bill wasn't satisfied with sending the photographer out on an assignment; he went with him and it even led to climbing lamp posts. Such incidents as these prove how high an editor can get . . . Quinn has never lost that wonderful sense of humor. His home shifted from Hudson Dorm to the Wyo office, and many a night, when the clock struck twelve, you could see the oil still burning where Bill was working . . . alone. Even though he wasn't a Frankie Sinatra, that monotone voice was often a reassurance to the staff. His capacity for hard work is shown in the results of the book, and when the going was at its roughest point, it was Bill who eased the tension. Never has anyone commanded so much respect from fellow workers, and still maintained the status of true friendship. All the way from how many grey hairs we can't possibly count, those numerous boxes of aspirin he consumed, to the old familiar expression, "Oh, my gawd," we give you Bill Quinn's own book, The Wyo . . .

THE STAFF

The "workingest, bestest, greatest" of all the Wyo staff this year was Peggy Hitchcock. She had many other activities besides the yearbook, but there was never a worry in the editor's mind that she wouldn't get everything done that was assigned to her . . . get it done and then look for more to do. If this book is any kind of a success, much of it can be attributed to Peg, who retained her sense of humor through some of the most cussed of times. She took care of the mountainous job of organizations, honoraries, layouts, and then smilingly came back for more. No words can ever express my appreciation to Hitch for her kindness, understanding, and ever-willingness to do something to help. She is a gal that can be depended upon to do a thorough conscientious job . . . and, well, doggone it, all I can say now, Hitch, is thanks a million, and the best of luck in the future.

This is the book that has taken volumes of paper, "blood, sweat, and tears" to produce. The staff leaves it in your hands to decide if it is a success . . . or not a success. We only hope that all mistakes are caught in time . . . and that Volume No. 36 meets with your approval. The decision now rests with you . . . we hope you like it!

Wyo Staff

Glen Dalrymple has combined several jobs and still succeeded in collecting more advertising than any previous business manager the Wyo has ever had. He has done a beautiful organization job of the advertising section . . . and as if this weren't enough, Glen has talent in other fields, too. He designed the cover for this 1949 Wyo, and spends much of his time behind a piano. With a combination such as this, Glen can't "miss" being a success in the future, with anything he tackles he does a good and honest job. The business manager this year had more problems than ever to overcome . . . an unwillingness to advertise in a yearbook . . . little response from letters . . . but yet he came through with a remarkable record of "ads." This accomplishment alone would qualify Glen's appearance in the annals of fame and good workers at the University of Wyoming. If the yearbook is a success . . . Glen has done more than his share in making it so.

THE EDITOR

GLEN DALRYMPLE, BUSINESS MANAGER.

JOAN SCAMMAN, EDITOR "UNQUOTE".

Joan Scamman started Unquote magazine out as a squalling baby of a publication, and through her efforts it has grown to be placed among the major publications on the campus. Scam has worked many long hours trying to get the kind of Unquote the students want. Her efforts have been rewarded. She has asked for little appreciation from any . . . rather she has the knowledge that all good little editors get their reward in higher places. To be the founder-editor of a magazine has been a tough duty that not many others would want, but Scamman has done an admirable job . . . no one else could have accomplished so much in so little time. We and Unquote are fortunate in having Joan as the first editor . . . because of her conscientious efforts we know there will be other editors in the years to come.

. . . . . Unquote Staff . . . . . .

Finding its way into the major publications is Unquote magazine. With a birthday that only dates back to April 1948, it has plodded and plomped along from an adless quarterly to a monthly publication with a large advertising budget. Its aim is to give budding writers a chance to find themselves . . . and in this, not many potentials are overlooked. Here's hoping we still find this worthy publication on campus for its 25th birthday! Besides those pictured: on the staff is Orpha Fulkerson, exchange editor; and an editorial board . . . Bill O'Connell is assistant editor.

DOT VANEK, CIRCULATION MANAGER.

BARBARA JONES, ADVERTISING MANAGER, AND SHIRLEY DAY, BUSINESS MANAGER.

Directory

The job of listing all the students enrolled in the University between two yellow covers this year went to Peg Hitchcock . . . and as usual she did a terrific job. Compiling lists, obtaining the advertising, and coming out in the black is a difficult task, but Peg not only did this . . . she made more money for the directory than any previous editor. A terrific task for a very capable person. We suspect that this directory is also the most accurate . . . bet even the registrar refers to it!

PEGGY HITCHCOCK, EDITOR, STUDENT DIRECTORY.

Other Publications

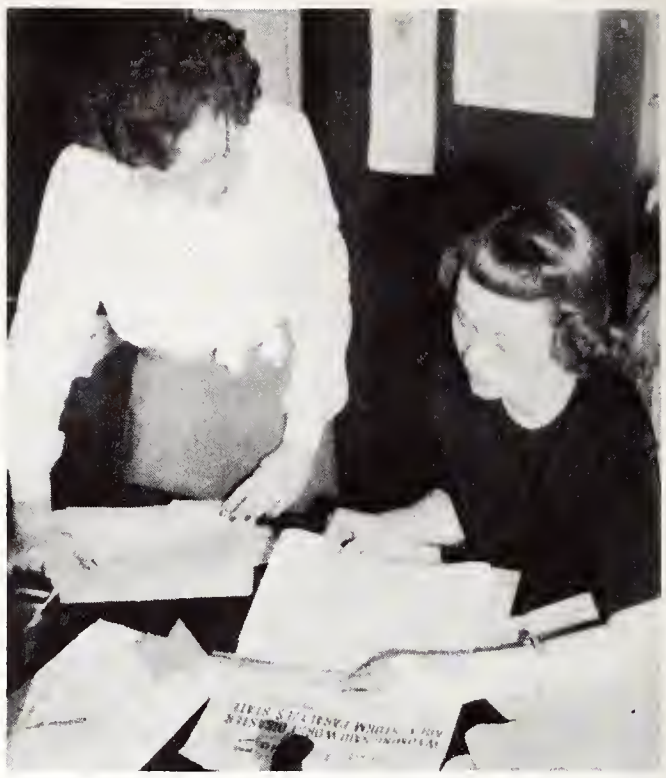
NAN HAIGHT, EDITOR, "THE DUDE"

The Dude

The name of this publication is new, but the purpose has not changed. The Dude is a book aimed mostly at freshmen, to help orient them into the rigorous college life. There is a little about each organization on the campus . . . and maybe some that aren't on the campus. This job has to be done by a person with the patience of a saint, the kind of a brain that can think of all sorts of devices, an imaginative mind, and a conscientious worker. All of these virtues and many more can be found in the person of Nan Haight who was the first editor of this new kind of orientation booklet. Not only that . . . but she completed the whole thing in two months . . . Whew!

NAN KENNEDY, ALUMNEWS EDITOR.

Coming back after a year's absence from the campus, U.W. graduate Nan Kennedy took over the Alumnews editorship in January. She has done many outstanding things on campus, and we are sure that her Alumnews (which has already shown a marked improvement) will be one of the best Alum papers in this region, with her capable directorship.



RUTH KELLEY, NEWS SERVICE DIRECTOR. (DOT HILDRITH, STANDING).

Holding the title of director of University news service, Ruth Kelley has the unique job of mixing public relations work with preparation of promotional literature for prospective students . . . and releasing campus news stories to papers throughout the state. It takes a lot of stamina, and Ability with a capital "A," to do a job such as this. Ruth Kelley has all the attributes necessary. All reporting work is done by advanced journalism students, so her job also entails training-on-the-job for these prospective newswriting enthusiasts. U.N.S. continues to be of more and greater service to the University and the state under her capable direction.

Publications

To end publications section, it is fitting that Wallace Biggs be chosen. For here is the man that has aided, sweated, worried about publications until they have been the outstanding features of this school year. Biggs has given all who work on publications his years of experience, friendly help, and had plenty of constructive suggestions. Many of us believe that to work with Mr. Biggs teaches us the patience and perseverance necessary to be a successful journalist. From all these many publications preceding, we want to say . . . "thanks for all the fine help and cooperation . . . without your aid we would not have made many deadlines this year . . . "

Football

Many pre-season praises were sung and said about the University of Wyoming's football Goliaths, and they lived up to them all as they trampled Colorado College 61-7 in their hometown opener. But before they could show their wares again, Jim Godfrey, crack sophomore tackle, started the injured list with a fractured foot.

The following week, Colorado State from Greeley ventured on the forbidden soil of Corbett field, to be trampled to the turf 48-0. It was a good day for the Waddies and Coach Bowden Wyatt cleared the bench.

The Potato state sent their representative down from Pocatello to weather the wrath of the cocksure Cowpokes. The Idaho Staters stubbornly resisted Walker Jones' end sweeps, Howard Johnson's thrust through the middle, and Eddie Talboom's off-tackle plunges. It was in the second period that Wyoming finally broke up the game and chalked up another win, 40-13.

Homecoming dropped the curtain on the home game series as the Cowboys reared back to meet the powerful Farmers from Colorado A & M.

Dueling became habitual between the two schools preceding the big game.

Spirits were high that afternoon with nobody daring to pick a winner. Wyoming pummeled their way to a 14-6 lead at the intermission. The Aggies returned to head the Punchers 21-14 with only minutes to play. The Cowboys then sparked themselves with determination and drove the Colo-Ags back to their goal line and a t.d. The scoreboard rang up a 21-20 tally in favor of the Colorado men. Final score, 21-20.

JONES SCORES AGAIN.

The final to the Wyoming pigskin parade was with the Hilltoppers from Denver University. The Pioneers drew first blood within minutes after the initial kick-off. The Pokes returned this counter with a march down to the D. U. six-yard line where a penalty sent them back to the twenty. After three more down, Wyoming lost possession of the ball and the crimson horde was never more in any danger. The final count gave Denver 13-0 victory.

Scat tailback Eddie Boom-Boom Talboom was the most heralded member of the Wyoming squad, He was chosen most valuable player on the Punchers' team, according to polls of the opposing coaches, and was unanimous choice on the All-Conference team. Eddie was also mentioned for honors on some All-American teams.

Copping All-Conference honors with Talboom was hard-tackling center Fred Taucher. Those prominently mentioned for the same honors were Bob Beckett, Shad Martoglio, Charles Peterson, Bob Bath, John Kosich and Walker Jones.

Charles Peterson, dependable tackle, was chosen as most improved player on Wyoming's 1948 squad.

Colorado Aggies ended the home series and Wyoming took to the road. In their first clash away from home, the Pokes met the muscular meatballs of the University of Utah. Wyoming lost ground throughout the first half, and ended 13-0 with the Utes ahead. Coach Wyatt's charges resisted in the last thirty minutes and made touchdown for touchdown with the powerful Utes. The gun banged with the Redskins coming out on the long side of a 19-7 score.

At Logan, Utah, the Punchers were faded, shaded, and rejected by Lady Luck, and lost a hair-raiser, 45-34, to Utah State.

Wyoming got back in the winning ways the following week, humbling Montana State 46-12.

A bad case of fumbleitis cheated the Cowpokes out of victory in their third visit to the Beehive state. The Cowboys had two goal line thrusts die within inches of the Brigham Young University's end zone, with crucial fumbles. The Cougars, taking advantage of Wyoming's misfortunes, squeaked by the die-hards from Laramie, 15-14.

A newcomer into the ranks of coaches at the University of Wyoming is Roy Peck. He took charge of the Wyoming thinclads the early part of the 1948 season. Besides his duties as track coach, he is in charge of publicity for the athletic department.

Hockey

Winning four and losing five, the Wyoming hockey team completed its first season of intercollegiate hockey on a formal basis.

Led by a fine front line of George Allen, Dick Gruber, and Bob Schultz, the Cowboys completely outskated Colorado University and were able to hold their own against the much more experienced team from Colorado College.

In addition to the high scoring front line, led by the clever stick handling of Allen, Jim Red White, a rough and ready scrapper, Don Wheeler, a steady dependable speedster, and flashy Howie Walgren performed notable work on the blue lines while Wally Murray did a fine job in the goal. Murray's splendid performance in the season's opener against Colorado College was probably the best individual performance of the year.

COACH EVERETT SHELTON.

25th Aniversary

The 1948-49 basketball season marks Wyoming's popular coach, Ev Shelton's Silver Anniversary in basketball. Mr. Shelton's coaching days began way back in 1923, when he graduated from Phillips University.

In his twenty-five years of making some of the nation's top hoopsters, Ev has won twenty championships.

Coach Shelton has spent the last nine years on the local campus where he has been friend to all, and liked by all. Since his stay here, Wyoming has won five conference crowns, including this year's championship team. Twice the Punchers have placed second in the Rocky Mountain League.

Besides conference titles Ev has brought home to Laramie, his 1943 Cowboy squad won the national championship.

Looking back on this enviable record, we proudly call Coach Ev Shelton "Builder of Champions."

BASKETBALL

The University of Wyoming's basketball team opened their season with a trip to Billings for two games with Montana State. The Punchers made a clean sweep of the two matches and met them again at Logan in a pre-season tourney. During the same meet, Wyoming blasted Montana University 78-51.

Coach Ev Shelton displayed his new team to the home crowd against Wichita University. The Cowboys wrapped up the first nighter 64-42, but in the second meeting were edged out 42-38.

The Wyoming mentor installed a new system in these early season contests with a two-team offense. A fast-breaking group specialized in the famous Shelton weave, a second set of hardwood men bringing forth the easy ball control.

This new adaptation confused the rough and tumble teams of the North, but to Wichita it was like playing in their own backyard.

Next, the Wyomingites took to the Pacific coast, splitting with Oregon State and chalking up two wins against Oregon University.

The Cowboys followed the Pacific ocean to the National Invitation Tournament in Los Angeles. Wyoming dropped North Carolina State 41-39 in the opening round, were shaded by Hamline 37-35, and walloped Montana University again 54-42, to bring home the third place prize.

Beginning their conquest for conference honors, the Cowboys played host to the Redskins of Utah. Wyoming took an early lead and were never headed. A.A.U. All-American Ron Livingstone put a blanket on the Utes' All-American, Vern Gardener, for one field goal and two free throws. Score 39-29.

Brigham Young University was the next victim of the basket-happy punchers. The keyed-up Cowboys tripped the Cougars 59-48 in the first meeting. Livingstone again took on the heavy defensive chores to stop the high-scoring Joe Nelson to five counters and snatched scoring honors for himself with fourteen points.

In the second game of the two-night series, the Brown and Gold Courtmen ran amuck racking up a 58-38 score on the Cougars. John Pilch, Wyoming nomination for All-American, sank sixteen markers to top scores. B.Y.U.'s Nelson broke loose for eleven tallies.

The Cowpokes' next jaunt was down nightmare alley to the Beehive state where Wyoming couldn't keep pace with Utah's hoopsters or crowds. In their coldest night of the 1949 season, the Pokes were defeated 42-30. Utah's Gardner tallied fourteen points.

JUST MISSED IT.

The second evening was identical to the first game. The Cowboys couldn't hit their stride, falling behind in the opening minutes, and only narrowing the margin 36-44 in the final ticks of the clock.

Losing their spark with the two preceding losses, Wyoming met the waiting Cougars on the same trip. Brigham Young Nelson and Roland Minsoon combined their efforts to topple the Punchers for their third straight defeat. Minsoon cashed in twenty markers, with Nelson trailing with sixteen. Pilch was high marker, with sixteen for the Cowboys.

Wyoming was still playing away, but determined to get back in the winning ways against Colorado A & M at Fort Collins. The Pokes took advantage of every break given them and setback the Aggies two in a row, 56-39 and 53-41, respectively.

Basketball

University of Denver was then invited to the Half-Acre for a two-home-game affair. Wyoming battled their way to a 44-34 win in the opening round. Livingstone put the shackles on hook-shot artist Vince Boryla, who only managed five counters. The lanky center also tied with Loy Doty with ten points apiece for scoring honors. The second match was a different story, with Boryla copping eighteen points for the Hilltoppers. Wyoming still came out in the long run with a 47-42 tally.

The Cowboys' next session was somewhat of a breather with the Aggie five from Colorado. They breezed by the scrappy Aggies to lengthen their circuit lead. The visitors slowed the ball game down in the fourth and final contest with the Punchers, but the Laramieites still came out on the top of a 39-29 score.

JOHN PILCH TAKES OFF FOR A ONE-HANDED HOOKER.

The hectic weekend following was spent at Denver, with more mud-slinging and name-calling than basketball. The first fray went off mildly, with Denver having more defense than the Cowboys. D.U. was sunk in the finale of the series, but we wuz robbed became a definite part of the lingo drifting over the border.

All conference play came to an end with Utags on the home court. Big Ron Livingstone, after leaving a brilliant record on Wyoming's slate, was playing his last game before a Laramie crowd. Mack Peyton, floor captain and All-Conference, was dipping his last markers through half-acre's hoops.

Basketball

LIVINGSTONE GOES UP TO SINK TWO FOR THE WADDIES.

As a last tribute, Wyoming played the type of ball it was capable of and, some scribes say, the best game of the season. They beat Utah State two in succession. With these last wins, Wyoming clinched the Conference crown and a bid to the N.C.A.A. play-offs.

The Punchers also claimed their share of All-Conference honors. Mack Peyton and John Pilch landed on the U.P. team. Keith Bloom received many honorable mentions. Loy Doty came through with additional honors. Behind them was All-American Ron Livingstone, whose steady dependable playing earned him praise throughout the Rocky Mountain region.

Shown above is John Warburton who has accomplished much this year in the way of business management of the ASUW funds. He has done an admirable job in straightening out what some business managers love to disorganize. His worries over budgets for every activity under A.S.U.W., from how much it costs for Rodeo equipment to how many pencils the B.I. and Wyo used. His very capable and friendly attitude toward all his charges made him one of the best student managers in years.

Below, you see the executive council which is part of the Student Senate. This committee carries a big load in the University. This year, they have done better than ever, with such members as Bob Murphy and Ron Keelan. Their job entails much of the red tape and know how of student government.

Swan Song

Well, gang, here it is thirty . . . and if you feel like I do, you are all happy and a little sad about the whole thing. It's been a lot of fun working with all of you, and it's been a great deal like being on a merry-go-round, too. We've laughed and played, and worked, and worked, and worked. The thing I'll remember most about the old '49 Wyo (because it is old to all of us now) is the gang who helped me sweat it out in the old salt mine in the Union basement. We've climbed up and down those twenty-two steps day after day—sometimes elated . . . and other times discouraged. Nevertheless we did it somehow. There are so many of you that I will never be able to thank enough. People like PEGGY HITCHCOCK, assistant editor, who worked like a horse, and was always the shining light of encouragement. She was so sure that everything would come out all right, and words can never express my appreciation of her efforts. Then there was good old BARBARA JONES, whose jokes, and hard work on the class section was enough to kill a normal person; but Jonesy, by her own admission, is not normal. She performed some super-human feats down here . . . and my admiration is showing, I'm afraid. Neither will I forget TED CHAPMAN who wrestled with fraternities and sororities and did much more than his share of work. As this goes to press, I think TED will be the next editor . . . and a finer one couldn't be had in the whole university. About here, I always think of GLEN DALRYMPLE, business manager of this epistle, who more than compiled his share of glory for '49! Along with him, who broke all advertising records, were BABE BRESLIN, BEV CARROLL, and the persistent AL BAIRD. Thanks, all of you. Who could forget SUSAN BANE who set up the files for this book, and did such a good job that she lightened the rest of the work for the staff? MRS. BANE, too, helped with the morale and coffee during these trying months more than enough to earn the name of Wyo housemother. And good old DEAN CONGER . . . what can I ever say that will express my appreciation of his long hours of labor over the Wyo pictures? He did the finest work possible . . . much of the success of this book can be attributed to him. HARRY BROCKLEY, another photographer, who took much of the load off of these old shoulders. JOHN WARBURTON, too, with his cooperation, made the days much easier. I can't forget GWEN EDWARDS with her fine work on foreign students and index. She is still working now on the index, as I write this. Speaking of index reminds me of my son, WAYNE HILTERBRAN, who played index editor and bent over those long files until even my back hurt. KEATING MURPHY did a good job on the files, too, and her work was more than appreciated. FLO ANDERSON was the live wire of the organization, and her sense of humor, etc., can be seen throughout the copy that she wrote. V. J. RECKLING was co-editor of the copy staff and she kept the old ball rolling. None of us will ever forget V. J. and Flo as they went about their business . . . making cryptic remarks at the same time. BOB BARK and MAE SUNADA helped with the copy, too. They are the kind of people you can depend upon . . . MARDEAN BUTLER, with her feature section, kept ye ole editor jumping with her new ideas about layouts and student life . . . her originality is found in these pages. BETTY SMITH helped much much with the class section and still found time to be a morale booster. She is a fine person that will remain in my friendship annals for a long time. SHIRLEY LAUGHLIN, with her RUSS, and NANCY MARSTON, with her first grade, helped a lot. Their help was appreciated even more, because they did it out of friendship for yours truly. RITA WICK and RUTH IRVIN helped PEGGY with her mountains of typing. They deserve a special medal. JACKIE ABBOTT and JIM BAKER did their little share, too, which turned out to be a lot! Shouldn't forget DOTTY VANEK, either . . . her art work, along with her ideas and friendly smile, gave this volume an added touch. PHI WESTLAKE, art editor, with her staff of the REA sisters, and GREG SMITH helped the book more than can be put down on paper. PHIL FLANNEGAN did an admirable job as sports editor. Then there is MR. BIGGS who helped with suggestions and lightened the load in many other ways. Also, my folks whose encouragement meant a great deal to all of us. RUTH KELLEY gave a lot of last-minute aid as the deadline drew near. The BRADFORD-ROBINSON PRINTING COMPANY . . . GREGORY MURPHY, all cooperated to make the '49 a success. We hope B-R never parts with that wonderful liaison man, FELIX JONES. His help was always appreciated, and we wouldn't have gotten the book out without him. To all of these and many more that I'm afraid I've forgotten, Thanks. This marks the end of my career as the Wyo editor, and as I sit here tonight and look back at all of your work and help, I know now why all the trials and tribulations editors go through are worth the effort. It's friendships like yours that make it doubly difficult to say Thirty! The best of luck to each and every one of you.
